World Junior Championships<

REIT-IM-WINKL, Germany (March 5) - The Soviets are among the favorites while the Canadians will be looking for results in the top half of the fields when the world junior cross country ski championships begin Wednesday.<

Brook Latimer, 19, of Thunder Bay is expected to be the leader of the young Canadian women's team in her second world junior championships. Latimer, who was 27th at the 1990 World Juniors in the 15K free-technique, is expected to have the Canadian women's best result in the same event Friday.<

But first she will compete in Wednesday's 5K classical-technique race along with Marie-Helene Martin of Boucherville, Que., who competed in the 1989 World Juniors, and the promising but inexperienced Leanne Luhta of South Porcupine, Ont., and Becky Scott of Vermilion, Alta.<

"From what I've seen this past week everyone is healthy," said Lyle Wilson, the head coach of the Canadian team. "Everyone's optimistic."<

The strongest Canadian men's result could come from Robin McKeever, 17, of Calgary in Wednesday's 10-km, classical-technique race.<

McKeever, who is back for his second world juniors, won three of four races at the recent World Junior Trails on a much tougher course in Hinton, Alta. The easier Reit-im-Winkl course - with its shorter, more abrupt hills and rolling terrain - will advantage those skiers who are particularly strong in double-poling.<

McKeever will be joined in Wednesday's 10K classic by Chris Blanchard of Pointe Claire, Que., Robert DeAbreu of Deep River, Ont., and Joseph Palinka of Thunder Bay.<

In a low-key, tune-up race in Austria Saturday, Blanchard and McKeever were 1-2 with 10K free-technique times of 30:33 and 30:52, while Latimer won the women's 5 1/2K race by more than a minute.<

Canada's best ever result at the world juniors was second by Marie-Josée Pepin of La Tuque, Que., in 1989.<

Coach Wilson, who won't make any specific predictions, said, "I don't like giving numbers, but I'm pretty confident that we're going to do significantly better than last year."<

At the 1990 World Juniors the Canadians posted three top-20 individual results. Donald Farley of Lorraine, Que., recovered from a disastrous 54th in his opening race for 15th in the 10K skate and Marie-Josée Pepin of La Tuque, Que., a silver medallist at the 1989 world juniors, was 16th and 14th. Both relay teams performed poorly behind the victorious Soviet women and East German men.<

REIT-IM-WINKL, Germany (March 6) - The Soviets came up empty-handed as the Scandinavians dominated the opening races of the world junior cross country ski championships Wednesday.<

Temperatures skyrocketed to 22 celsius in the men's 10-kilometre, classical-technique race as Thomas Alsgaard of Norway did the best job of dealing with the ankle-deep mush with a winning time of 29 minutes 15.1 seconds. Marcus Corannsson of Sweden was second in 29:18.9 and Sami Repo of Finland third in 29:20.1, as skiers from Norway, Sweden or Finland occupied the top six positions. The top skier on the usually strong Soviet squad was 10th-place Alexej Drobyshev.<

Robin McKeever of Calgary was disappointed at not improving on his 30th place in last year's world juniors. He placed 30th in 31:51.5.<

"It's tough here," said McKeever, 17. "A lot of guys skied really fast and it didn't quite happen the way I wanted it to (for me).<

"I had slightly slippery skis, but the race was okay," said McKeever, who admitted, "I've never skied in conditions like this before. With the mush on the hills it was really hard to turn over and get any tempo going."<

In his first major international race, Robert DeAbreu of Deep River, Ont., was 46th. Chris Blanchard of Pointe Claire, Que., was a disappointed 51st after placing 39th in the same race last year, and Joseph Palinka of Thunder Bay finished 66th among the 77 starters.<

The Soviets were shut out of the medals again as Siri Halle of Norway won the women's 5-km classic in 15:08.2, while Katerina Neumannova of Czechoslovakia edged out Satu Lyytikainen of Finland 15:11.4 to 15:12.1 for the lesser medals. The top Soviet was Tatjana Podmazo in ninth.< The Canadian junior women panicked in the warm conditions and overwaxed at the last minute.<

Brook Latimer, whose brother Forest is competing here in the world junior nordic combined championships, was the best Canadian woman with a 43rd-place time of 17:31.2. Leanne Luhta of South Porcupine, Ont., was 46th in 17:39.7, Becky Scott of Vermilion, Alta., 49th and Marie-Helene Martin of Boucherville, Que., 51st among 55 starters.<

"Brook probably did the worst job with her skis," said the Canadian juniors' head coach, Lyle Wilson of Invermere, B.C. "She wanted to go with such a sticky wax that she slowed her skis down tremendously.<

"It was an average day for the (Canadian) guys and a less than average day for the girls," added Wilson.<

The championships continue Friday when Scott, Luhta, Latimer and Nancy Dassie of Beauport, Que., compete in the 15-kilometre, free-technique race with defending champion Gabi Hess of Germany the favorite. McKeever, Blanchard, DeAbreu and Ken Bristol of Saskatoon will compete in Friday's 30-kilometre, free-technique.<

With the skyrocketing temperatures, the organizers are trucking in snow to keep the courses race-ready for Friday's individual races and Sunday's relay.<

Editor's note: Do NOT refer to Finland, Norway and Sweden as Scandinavian skiers. Finland is NOT part of Scandinavia . . . Denmark is!<

World Junior Championships<

REIT IM WINKL, Germany (March 8) - The Norwegians padded their leading medal total to four as Thomas Alsgaard and Siri Halle each captured their second medal at these world junior cross country ski championships Friday.<

Alsgaard dominated the 30-kilometre, free-technique event, winning by nearly 1 1/2 minutes in 1 hour 25 minutes 35.9 seconds over a snow-scarce course which has been hit by summer-like temperatures the last two weeks. It was his second gold medal of the championships, while teammate Halle was the bronze medallist in the women's 15K skate after winning her first race Wednesday.<

The other medallist in the men's 30K race were Cedric Vallet of France in 1:27:03.2 and bronze medallist Michail Artjuchov of the Soviet Union.<

For the Canadians, it was a day of mediocre women's results and a solid effort from Robin McKeever of Calgary, who placed 25th.<

McKeever had been eyeing a top-20 performance in his first race, in which he was 32nd. But he hadn't expected to do as well in this free-technique event with temperatures climbing into the 20s.<

"I think I skied very consistently, there were no major swings in technique or tempo," said McKeever, 17. "For the first 10K I had bad shins, and I was thinking, 'Ah gees, What am I doing out here?' But I stayed relaxed."<

Over the final 10 kilometres McKeever moved up from 34th to a 25th-place time of 1:33:20.8.<

Robert DeAbreu of Deep River, Ont., also moved up in the second half - from the 50s to 30s, before falling back to 43rd in 1:33:51.6. Chris Blanchard of Pointe Claire, Que., was 49th and Ken Bristol of Saskatoon 59th among 66 finishers.<

"Robin's effort was pretty damn good," said national ski team director Marty Hall. "For a young kid he did a really smart race and got as much out of himself as there was. Another 10 seconds and he would have been knocking on the door of the top 20."<

In the women's 15K skating event favored Gabriele Hess of Germany, already one of the top World Cup skiers, took the gold in 45:01.7. Barbara Mettler of Switzerland was second in 45:07.5, as three Swiss finished in the top seven, and Halle was third in 45:48.4.<

Top Canadian woman was Brook Latimer of Thunder Bay, who placed 33rd in 50:05.5 at her second world juniors. Her rookie teammates were well back, with Nancy Dassie of Beauport, Que., 42nd in 52:44.5, Leanne Luhta of South Porcupine, Ont., 46th, and Becky Scott of Vermilion, Alta., 47th.<

"I'm mushed out," said Latimer. "The conditions were pretty brutal out there, but I'm not going to make any excuses: you should be able to race in any conditions.<

"I wasn't really snappy, but it was the best I could do today. I worked hard."<

The championships conclude with the relays on Sunday, before the Canadians fly back to Prince George, B.C., for the national junior championships.<

World Junior Championships<

REIT IM WINKL, Germany (March 10) - The Norwegians completed their near-perfect week at the world junior cross country ski championships with a pair of exciting relay victories Sunday.<

The same could not be said for the Canadians as the women finished dead last and the men placed 13th after lead-off skier Robin McKeever of Calgary fell twice.<

Thomas Alsgaard - a tall, rangy Norwegian - did have a perfect week, winning his third gold medal in as many races. He anchored the Norwegian men to a stirring victory in the 4 x 10-kilometre relay against the Soviets.<

The Soviets took the lead on the second leg by five seconds. But Anders Eide barely regained the lead on the third leg for the Norwegians, before Alsgaard beat Sergei Krjanin to the finish line by less than a second for the gold.<

Norway finished in 1 hour 40 minutes 45 seconds, the Soviets 1:40:45.7, and Sweden a distant third in 1:44:37.6 in the summer-like conditions. The much-improved French were fourth in 1:45:12.1, just ahead of Czechoslovakia.<

The Canadian foursome - consisting of McKeever, Robert DeAbreu of Deep River, Ont., Chris Blanchard of Pointe Claire, Que., and Ken Bristol of Saskatoon - was 12th after McKeever's opening leg before finishing 13th in 1:49:01.6.<

DeAbreu had one of the best races of his life, but the Canadians found themselves well off the pace after McKeever stepped on his own pole at 3 1/2 kilometres.<

"Robin was good and aggressive, but you just can't fall twice when you're skiing as fast as the other guys," said Canada's national junior coach, Lyle Wilson.<

The Norwegians finished the world juniors with a leading four individual and two relay medals - five of them gold - despite trailing the Soviet women for more than 3/4 of their 4 x 5-kilometre relay. The star was Siri Helle, who had already won bronze and gold medals in her individual races, as she overcame a seven-second deficit on the anchor leg.<

The Norwegian women prevailed in 57:59.7, the Soviets were 58:00.4 and Finland beat out Switzerland for the bronze.<

Leanne Luhta of South Porcupine, Ont., had a disastrous opening leg, 45 seconds slower than the next closest skier, and the Canadians never recovered en route to a 12th and last-place time of 1:04:50.3. Becky Scott of Vermilion, Alta., Brook Latimer of Thunder Bay, and Nancy Dassie of Beauport, Que., completed the team whose best result of the week was Latimer's 33rd in Friday's 15K skate. Canada's best result of the championships came from McKeever, just 17, who placed 25th in the 30K skate.<

Wilson had some choice words after the poor women's performance: "We're moving in the wrong direction and we have to take a good hard look at how we're going to produce fitter and tougher skiers in Canada.<

"I think our skiers, particularly the girls, came here not prepared for the level of competition. Meanwhile, too many other countries are improving."<

The Canadian team now flies to Prince George, B.C., for the national junior championships this week.<
